Motorists with January Registrations Reminded of Deadline

Springfield — Passenger car owners who have license plates expiring in January can purchase renewal stickers and B-truck owners can purchase new-design plates online at www.cyberdriveillinois.com, by using the "TouchTone Renewal" system, or by visiting a Driver Services facility(see attached lists), Secretary of State Jesse White said today.

New-design plates have been issued for all passenger vehicles in the state, while B-trucks and vehicles in all other plate categories are receiving new plates this year.

It is now too late to mail applications and guarantee delivery of new stickers and plates before the Jan. 31 expiration date. Anyone driving a vehicle on or after Feb. 1, 2003, with an expired January 2003 sticker will be subject to a $75 fine for improper registration.

White said passenger car owners can buy their January 2004 renewal stickers over the counter at 117 Driver Services facilities and five Driver Services mobile units. In addition, about 2,415 financial institutions statewide sell passenger car stickers only. Twenty facilities are selling B-truck plates.

Pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to 445,548 passenger car and B-truck owners who renew their registrations in January.
