Secretary of State Jesse White Sending Mobile Unit to Five Points Washington on Monday
Unit is being relocated from Crossroads United Methodist Church

Illinois Secretary of State Jesse White announced his office is stationing a mobile unit on Monday, November 25 from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. at Five Points Washington, located at 360 N. Wilmor in Washington, to continue serving the residents of Washington, IL. The mobile unit had been stationed on Thursday and Friday at the Crossroads United Methodist Church.

“Last week my office’s mobile unit provided direct service to nearly 200 people,” said White. “These are important services that help residents get a duplicate state ID card or driver’s license, or expediting a duplicate title. I am pleased to extend the mobile unit’s stay for another day in Washington.”

The mobile unit is designed to bring a variety of office services directly to the community, including: duplicate certificate of title, duplicate vehicle registration, duplicate driver's license and duplicate state ID card. There will be no charge for these services.

In addition, White said the mobile unit will participate in the priority title service on titles, duplicate titles, and corrected titles for residents of Washington. The fees for these services will also be waived. White noted that the priority service allows his office to process these title requests within just two days.

White initiated a law effective in July 2012 that gives his office authority to waive certain fees for residents impacted by natural disasters and living in counties that have been declared disaster areas by the governor.
